

EUGENE PUTSATO

HEAD OF DEVELOPMENT, CTO

DEAR RECRUITING TEAM

I am writing to express my interest in the Vice President of Software Research and Development position at your esteemed company, as advertised. With over 10 years of experience in software development, including more than 5 years in leadership roles, I am confident in my ability to lead and inspire your R&D team towards achieving its business goals and project milestones.

My extensive background in software development, project management, and team leadership makes me well-suited for this role. I have successfully managed and delivered complex software projects, particularly in telecommunications and embedded systems domains. My expertise in web application development, telecommunication software, and embedded platform software aligns well with the requirements of this position.

In my previous roles, I have led diverse teams of developers, fostering a collaborative and innovative work environment. I have a proven track record of implementing best practices for software development, including agile methodologies, and ensuring the delivery of high-quality software solutions that meet customer needs and competitive market standards. My ability to coordinate efforts between different teams and manage cross-functional dependencies has been instrumental in achieving seamless integration of various software components into cohesive and functional solutions.

I am particularly excited about the opportunity to work with your R&D team and contribute to the development of on-prem command and control solutions as well as communication system control software. My experience in developing command and control solutions and familiarity with on-premise software solutions and cloud integration will be valuable in driving innovation and continuous improvement within your team.

Moreover, my strong problem-solving skills, hands-on approach to technical challenges, and ability to think strategically will enable me to address technical challenges effectively and ensure the team is equipped to handle complex problem-solving tasks. My commitment to maintaining clear and effective communication with all stakeholders, including executive leadership, product management, and external partners, will ensure alignment of R&D activities with product requirements and market demands.

I am enthusiastic about the prospect of contributing to your company's success and driving the R&D team towards achieving its goals. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experiences align with your needs. Thank you for considering my application.

YOURS SINCERELY,

Eugene Putsato
